

Collier Memorial and Jackson F. Kimball

CAMPGROUND

Reserve early! Reserve campsites two days to nine months in advance by calling Reservations Northwest (1-800-452-5687) or visiting www.oregonstateparks.org.

Collier Memorial State Park is a notable fly fishing destination situated on the banks of the Williamson River and Spring Creek. The park itself includes an acclaimed collection of historic logging equipment known as the Collier logging museum. Collier Memorial lies just 25 miles from the southeast entrance to Crater Lake National Park.

Seasonal Camping

Camping Rates

Rates are subject to change. You can get up-to-date information by calling 1-800-551-6949 or visiting www.oregonstateparks.org.

Between October 1 and April 30, you can rent full, electric, or tent sites for less. At most state parks, including Collier Memorial, you can get $4 off of summer rates.

Fish in Two Streams

The Williamson River and its Spring Creek tributary are some of the premier fishing waters in Oregon for both rainbow and brook trout. Both are open to non-motorized boating.

Need to cancel your reservation? Follow these guidelines: If your reservation is for today or tomorrow, call 541-783-2471. Otherwise, call Reservations Northwest at 1-800-452-5687.

Take a Hike—or a Ride

A 1/2-mile trail leads from the campground to the logging museum and pioneer village (see map on other side). This trail intersects another that connects the park's two day-use areas and leads to Spring Creek. A trail from the campground leads to the Williamson River.

A primitive trailhead is located behind the logging museum near the horse camp area (when you come to the fork in the road, take a left before entering the Spring Creek Day-use Area). The 10-mile trail between Collier Memorial and Jackson F. Kimball follows primitive roads through Winema National Forest (Forest Service road map recommended), and is designed for horseback riders, hikers, mountain bikers, and cross-country skiers.

Ask for information about the OC&E Woods Line State Trail, a 100-mile route for bikers, hikers, and equestrians leading east from Klamath Falls.

Explore the Area's Logging Past

Check out one of Oregon's best collections of antique logging equipment, both outdoors on the grounds of the Collier Memorial Logging Museum and indoors in the newly-added replica cookhouse. The museum's donkey steam engines, skidding and railroad equipment, small tools, and variety of machinery are displayed year-round, weather permitting, from daylight to dusk. A gift shop and information center are open seasonally from May through October.

Visit the museum's Pioneer Village to see log cabins relocated from points around southern Oregon. Many of the structures, which display a variety of building techniques and period furnishings, date from the 1880s. The museum and village come alive with volunteers in period clothing and old logging equipment demonstrations during the park's Living History Day on the third Sunday in June.

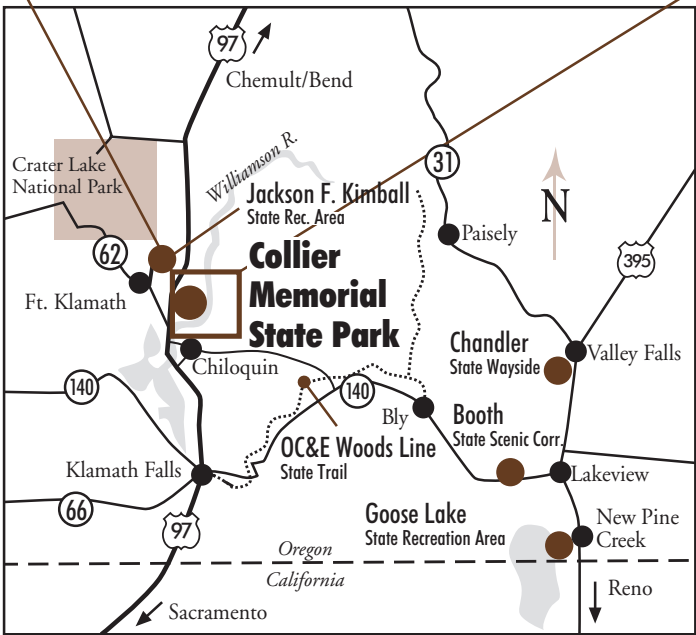

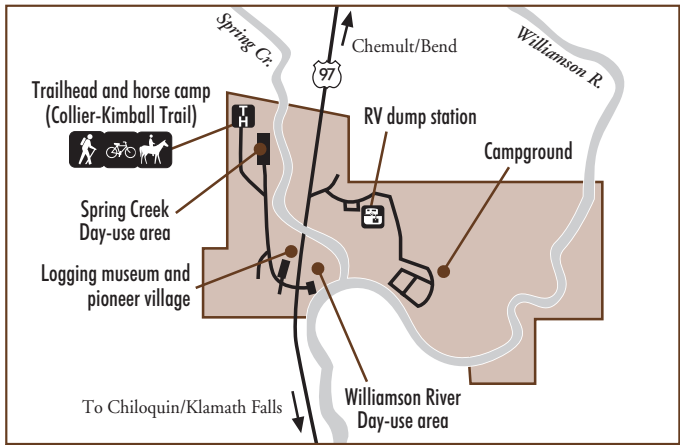

A guided walking tour complete with maps and descriptions of the logging displays is available from the museum gift shop.

Jackson F. Kimball State Recreation Site

With a pristine setting near the headwaters of the Wood River, this small campground is only 10 miles southeast of the south entrance to Crater Lake National Park. The campground has 10 primitive sites without water. Vault toilets are provided. A trail leads from the campground to the site where the river emerges as a spring bubbling from a rocky hillside. Bring your canoe or kayak to fully enjoy the meandering river and its beautiful forested corridor.
